Dear All,

I am delighted to introduce Volume-2, Issue-4 of the peer-reviewed open-access "International Journal of Medical, Pharmaceutical, and Biological Sciences (IJMPBS)". This issue is available online as well as in print form. This issue comprises of five articles that span various domains within the pharmaceutical and medicinal fields.

In this edition, we delve into the development and validation of an analytical method for qualitative and quantitative analysis of Phytoconstituent. Furthermore, we provide an in-depth exploration of the genetically engineered humanized monoclonal antibody-based formulation for oncology therapy. This issue also discusses a novel antifungal formulation of Luliconazole.

The launch of this journal is designed to serve as a valuable resource for students, researchers, and scientists worldwide, offering access to high-quality, peer-reviewed scientific articles and fostering connections across the entire spectrum of medical, biological, pharmaceutical sciences, and related disciplines.

I extend my warmest congratulations and heartfelt thanks to each author for their valuable contributions, support, and participation in this issue. The dedication of our editorial board members and reviewers in critically evaluating the submitted papers ensures that we maintain the highest standards of quality.

I also want to express my gratitude to everyone who has visited our journal's website, including readers, researchers, students, and professionals. Your engagement is greatly appreciated, and we eagerly anticipate your continued inspiration and support.

Thank you for your commitment.

With regards,

Chief Editor,

International Journal of Medical, Pharmaceutical and Biological Sciences (IJMPBS)
